Armies win a peace

Statesmen plan a peace

But

The concept of a life of peace as we see it is an enduring, lifelong pattern woven together from the following materials.

Inspiration — Leadership

The Other Man's View point

Competition — Friendly Rivalry

Fusing the Elements of Peace

Achievement — Man of Peace

FOREWORD

We are not the first, God grant that we may be the last generation, that must step into a world which greed, hate and fear have mutilated beyond recognition. Men have forgotten the meaning of such words as peace and justice; they prefer not to speak of charity and cooperation.

Yet in the throes of this war men look for peace. Dumbarton Oaks, Yalta, San Francisco, they all point to the eternally alive need that our natures have for peace. But even these conferences aimed at peace must fail if the individual man does not carry with him in his heart that fundamental understanding of and respect for his fellow man without which peace plans are scraps of paper, ready prey for the next whirlwind of war.

The common man and his uncommon cooperation with the people on his street, in his city, at his office, he is the one who lives the peace, who vitalizes those pen-strokes on parchment. And for us, common men, like our fathers and mothers before us, four years here has meant nothing more than four years training for a life of peace. The men who train us have meant inspiration and leadership, our organizations have given us a broad understanding of the opinions and interests of others; our sports have meant teamwork and friendly rivalry.

From the fusion of these elements comes the man who understands and is prepared to live a life of peace. With the help of our God, the sweat of our brow and our four years training here we feel ready to transmit into daily living the formulas that will spell peace in our time.

TO THE FULFILLMENT OF THESE IDEALS AS WE HAVE LEARNED
AND LIVED THEM THROUGH FOUR MEMORY-PACKED YEARS, WE DEDICATE THIS

The Arena is a literary magazine, published by the students of Canisius High School. It is published this year at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter and Commencement. It aims to cultivate a high literary standard among the students, and also to serve as a bond of communication between the Alumni and friends of Canisius High School and the Undergraduates.

DEDICATION

The word discipline to us usually has the unpleasant sound associated with words like punishment and penalty; and the man who enforces it occupies the same position in our eyes as the policeman did when we were four.

Yet to the man who disciplines us we have dedicated our yearbook, not in token of fear, but of respect for a man who knew his job and did it fairly, impartially and always firmly. From him we have learned the better qualities that discipline may engender: gentlemanliness, honesty and a real sense of fair play.

For these lessons and for the inspiration that the man himself gave us, for his cheerfulness, his interest in our activities, his concern with our problems, we say, "Thank You," and that he may remember the esteem in which we held him, we dedicate to him our nineteen hundred and forty-five Yearbook.

RECTOR'S MESSAGE

The close of your four years at Canisius is almost simultaneous with the end of bloodshed and cruelty all over the world. It will be for you then to rebuild the society that we were not wise enough to build well. Yours is the opportunity and necessity to find successfully the formula that will enable all of us to live together as peaceful people.

The mistakes of our generation need not be your mistakes. The lessons that we learned at the bitter price of global war you may profit by. The blunders in understanding and cooperation that we made you can correct. The failures that were ours you should never repeat.

Peace is built by the individual in his dealings with others. Here you have learned for four years, on the ball field, in the class room, in debate and club room the value of getting along with your fellows. Your most cherished memories will always be of the times you spent working or playing with your friends. Those memories are the seeds of peace in your own lives and in the life of the world. Keep those memories. Join to them the ideals you have learned here. Add the spirit of prayer and hard, cooperative work and you have the beginnings of that formula for peace that we were too blind to see.

God bless you and give courage to your hearts for the task that lies ahead of you.

Sincerely in Christ

Teamwork Insures Victory

Common Interests Insure Mutual Understanding

Teamwork Insures Victory

These men have been trained to act as a team, and upon the successful teamwork of thousands of these groups depends the successful conduct of a war. They get to know each other as closely as one knows a brother and the result of the spirit of camaraderie that spring up between them is the calm confidence that assures levelheadedness in combat.

Common Interests Insure Mutual Understanding

Life has always meant a constant living with others. And successful living of nations or individuals rest almost solely on the ability to cooperate. In the debate hall, in clubs, in plays, in journalism we have learned to appreciate the other man's viewpoint, to see the value of common interests, interchange of views. Upon this foundation of understanding we hope that peaceful living is built.

DUCES CLUB

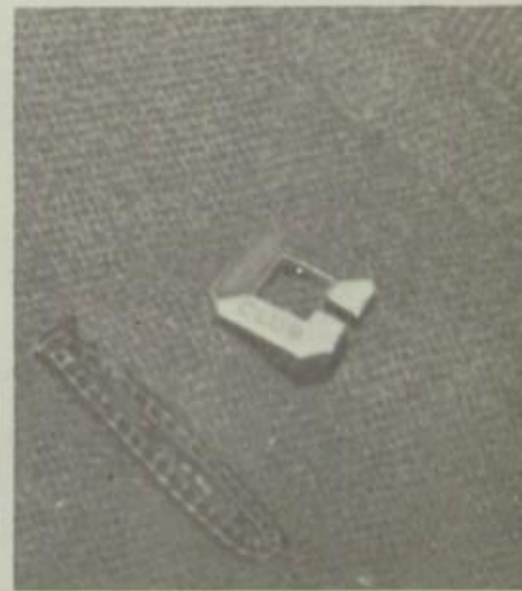

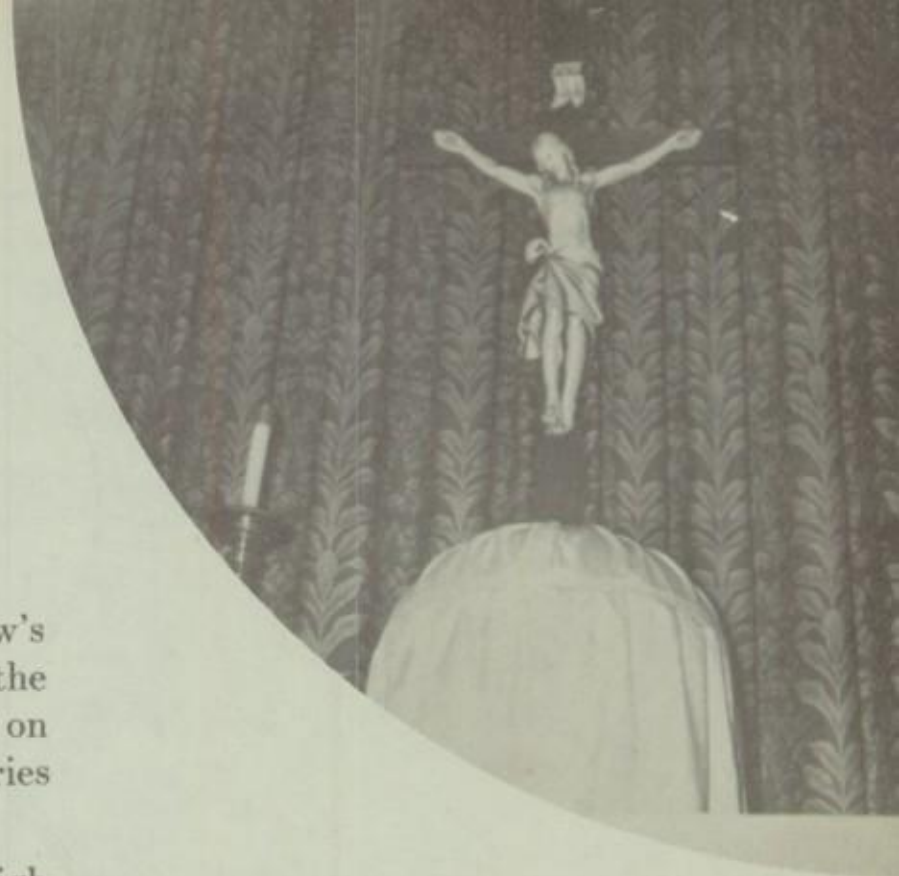

Three times each week a group of tomorrow's men, tomorrow's leaders gather to pray for the blessings of peace, to pray to the Queen of Peace that they may, in the all too hazy future, carry on the work of peace which began in a tiny stable many centuries ago.

Theirs is an ever recurring prayer to God, storming His high heaven to ask divine remembrance of our brothers, our fathers, our friends fighting now on the world's battlefields.

No one can tabulate the effect of their prayer. Yet who would deny that they have won untold victories on the battlefields of heaven. Prayer for peace in a world at war! We dare not deny its necessity.

SODALITY

This is our most honored organization. Its purpose is to honor our Queen, the Mother of God and to serve her other children, those with whom we live. To praise her we meet every week during the year and present our petitions before her throne. When her month comes we build a shrine and keep a constant vigil before it. And all through the month we stand at assembly and listen as one of us speaks her praises. To serve her children we have our Mite Box drives during Lent and Advent; stamps are collected to help her sons and daughters in distant corners of the world; Christmas comes and our Food Baskets go to her chosen ones, the poor. A chaplain writes for religious articles and rosaries, medals, prayerbooks and magazines pour in. June comes and the year of service is done.

FRESHMAN SODALITY

Lost in the mazes of the Canisius-On-Delaware, this year's freshmen were somewhat bewildered by things for the first few weeks. Then one morning the bulletin board bore a sign reading simply, "Freshman Sodality, Today." Word passed around and that afternoon they stepped into Canisius High's honor society. As the days passed they learned the meaning of membership in the Sodality: that it meant a devotion to the Mother of God and dedication to the service of others; It meant the acquiring of new ideals, higher ambitions than they had ever known before.

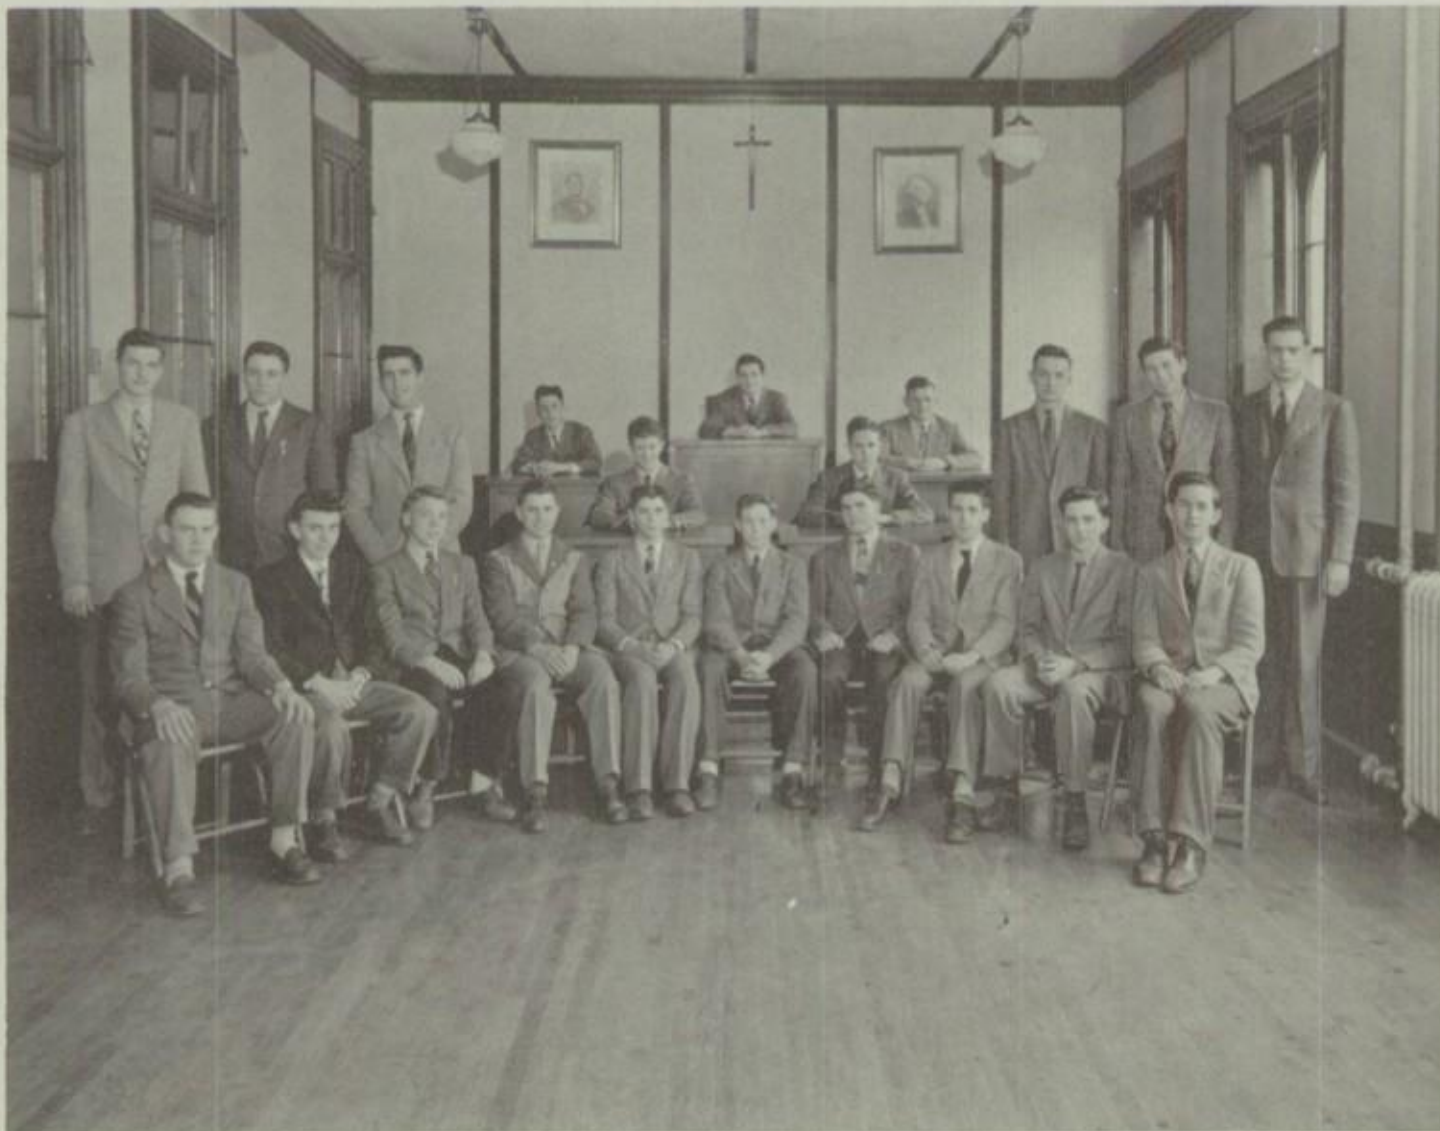

The year is waning now but the freshmen have learned and kept their tradition well. Wrapping Christmas parcels for the poor, visiting the sick, contributing to the mission drives, collecting religious articles for the boys in service, praying day by day at mass and visit for the peace the whole world wants: All these things have been their training and accomplishment. Mary's sodality is safe in their hands. They have learned the lesson that prayer and service to others is essential to our American way of life.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Because of newly made provisions, the Student Council was able to start its activities immediately upon the reopening of school. Acting in an advisory capacity through representatives of all the students, the Council expressed the views of the students on certain matters to the faculty. It also served as an intermediary between faculty and students, and through the Council many ideas and programs of the school were brought to the student body.

Supporting and increasing interest in all school activities is another prime purpose of the Student Council. The play, football dance and prom were all sponsored by the Council, and rallies before football and basketball games stirred up spirit in the student body. The Council itself organized and brought about the Accelerated Seniors' party and dance, a football-basketball banquet, the father and son night and the Booster day at the end of the school year.

The Student Council is a fundamental organism of the school, founded to foster in the students ideals of true Canisius men and to inspire the highest type of school spirit. And with an eye to the future, it implants ideals of future leadership in those qualified and chosen to lead.

ARENA YEARBOOK

Changes were in the air this year. When the year started we had very definite ideas about the type of book we wanted. More pictures and less print was the idea in a nutshell. It entailed a new type of printing, lithography and a dummy copy that made up in smart page design for what it lacked in printed columns.

The theme, carefully chosen to fit the mood of the times was worked out in a series of six Tip-In pages, stressing by the use of two contrasting pictures, the need for a life of peace. This germ idea, suggested in the pictures and their captions, is elaborated in the theme copy and touched upon in all the copy of the book. The pictures were taken with an eye to driving home this theme. It has meant work, long hours of it for all members of the staff but we feel that the book has unity and, above all, it is a complete break with yearbook traditions.

The final judgment of its success or failure is yours. For the delay in production that war time necessity has entailed, we apologize, but we hope that your sentiment when you receive the book will be, "This was worth waiting for."

ARENA QUARTERLY

Early in the year the staff convened and decided to cast aside archaic linoleum blocks and straight-laced copy layouts in favor of modern design. The stiff colored covers of past years gave way to artistic "shots" of our new Canisius-on-Delaware. And the format took its cue from the nation's leading weeklies.

Writers galore vied with each other to fill the pages with novel short stories, verse and essays reminiscent of Morley. The artists outdid themselves to keep up with the literary output and each issue sparkled with a continually new and ever timely set of clever drawings.

The work has been exacting but the result has equaled our most hopeful dreams. Idealism and practical experience, these have we acquired. The ability to sketch our ideas on paper or embody them in a paragraph of type are all invaluable acquisitions and ever handy tools and in a world that will demand understanding of its problems and will clamor for the expression and solution of these problems we may, perhaps, be able to play a worthwhile part. Flash: The Scholastic Press has awarded "The Arena" a First Place in its annual magazine contest.

Canisius H. S. Debate Team On Program - Sun., May 6

Do you believe that our government should break with our traditional past and embark upon a program of compulsory military training for all young men before the age of 20?

An opportunity to crystallize your thinking on this most important question now confronting the People and the Congress will be given to you at our May 6th meeting.

The Behrens Debating Society of Canisius High School will present four of its most brilliant speakers in a debate on this subject.

The moderator, the Rev. Thomas A. Wassmer, S.J. (who will accompany the debaters), has carefully chosen outstanding students to participate and also in sending John B. Walsh who will act as chairman.

The affirmative side will be argued by Robert Fahey and Richard Braun. The negative side will be upheld by Edward Batt and Richard Murphy.

Mr. Fahey played a leading role in the Canisius production, "Career Angel," recently staged at the Delaware Avenue school. Those who were present at that fine presentation will look forward to hear him again.

Richard Braun represented Canisius High School in the recent fourth degree Knights of Columbus Oratorical Contest.

DEBATE CLUB HOST TODAY TO CANISIUS HIGH SCHOOL

The Fredonia High School Debate Club will be host today to the Canisius High School Debate Club in a discussion of this year's National Debate subject: Resolved, That the legal voting age should be lowered to 18.

Though this is the first Debate of Fredonia's season and Canisius has an advantage of several experiences in debating the topic, FHS debaters are determined to make a good showing.

Representatives of our Negative team will meet Canisius Affirmative in an Assembly Debate before the student body at 2:45 p.m. Directly following this discussion our affirmative will meet the visitor's negative. Representing us in the negative argument will be Schoener. Robert Weiss will act as chairman of this Debate. Dorothy Emmerling and George Tadt will represent the affirmative team with William Kerr acting as chairman.

Syracuse Central High Debaters

Edward Batt and Richard Murphy, as a team, successfully represented Canisius in several debates with leading teams in New York City during the Easter vacation, while Mr. Murphy even more recently was chosen to represent Canisius in the Jesuit Oratorical Contest which took place at Fordham.

From the standpoint of popular interest in the subject matter and in the light of the unusually excellent quality of speakers, we look forward to the most exciting meeting in years.

Departing from the practice of previous occasions when three individuals acted as judges, this debate will be judged by all.

In debate on lowering the voting age to 18, Canisius High School speakers won over Little Seminary representatives Thursday in the latter's auditorium. Seminary debaters were Charles Amico and Paul Westmiller; Canisius, Richard Murphy and Richard C. Braun. Le Goergen of the Seminary was chairman.

For the second time, Canisius High School debaters won over Little Park School speakers Thursday in Canisius auditorium, arguing affirmatively for compulsory military training. In their December victory in the Park School, Canisius took the negative side.

CANISIUS HIGH WINS 19 OF 23 DEBATES

Victory has marked this year's Canisius High School debates in Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Fredonia, Jamestown, Syracuse and New York. Meeting 11 different schools, the Canisius debaters have won 19 of 23 contests.

Competing with Niagara Falls High School Tuesday at the Falls, the Canisius team won again in arguments on lowering the voting age to 18 years. They had a return engagement today in the Canisius Washington St. auditorium. Another frequently-debated subject is compulsory military training.

The Rev. Thomas A. Wassmer, S.J., is the Canisius moderator. Operating usually in teams of two, the debaters are: Richard C. Braun, Richard Murphy, Robert Fahey, Edward Batt, John D. Walsh and James Condon. Individually, they have accepted several speaking engagements.

Fredonia High School Team

Canisius Debaters Gain Two Victories and One Tie

The Canisius High School debate team won two victories and obtained a tie in debates in Syracuse during the week-end. Arguing the question of lowering the voting age to 18, it had the judges' unanimous vote in an affirmative stand against Central High School representatives and a tie in debating the negative with the same opponent. It was again victorious, assuming the affirmative, with St. Lucy's Preparatory School.

The Canisius team is composed of Richard C. Braun, American Legion Oratorical Contest county winner; Richard Murphy, Richard McCarthy and Edward Batt. The Rev. Thomas A. Wassmer, S.J., moderator, has arranged events for his school's team with 14 other schools and organizations -- some demonstration debates and some panel discussions--on voting age and compulsory military training.

ORCHESTRA

Almost any Friday afternoon you might find a group of students gathered at the entrance to the game room to hear the Canisian musicians pound out their numbers. Some approved and some did not. But slow, tedious rehearsal is the backbone of any organization and this is doubly true in music.

Mr. Fred Ressel, the conductor, lost four of his star performers this year and replacements with their experience were difficult to find. Long hours of practice made up for their lack of experience and on their first appearance at the school play, the orchestra won a deserved applause. They will play again at graduation and again the work they have put in will be clearly evident. The year will close with gratitude to Mr. Ressel, their conductor, and Father Byrne, their moderator, and above all with the invaluable realization that real proficiency in any walk of life comes only at the cost of real labor and consistent application.

CAMERA CLUB

The success of the Camera Club this year may be judged by the calibre of the Yearbook because it is due in large part to their work that we have the pictures that fill this book. Beginning as far back as the football season they have been figuring angle shots, still life pictures, group pictures and action shots. The unusual variety and complete individuality of their pictures pays ample tribute to their real craftsmanship.

Sippel, Mott, Murphy

Trometer, Cronin, Sippel, Szulzewski

In addition to their yearlong job with us they have occupied themselves with a series of illustrated lectures supplied by the Eastman Kodak Company dealing with every phase of photography. To aid them in solving their problems they have equipped a dark room. Here the experts polish up their developing and enlarging techniques and the beginners are initiated into the mysteries of photography. Their year has been successful, practical and to us very gratifying.

SPORTS

Exercise to Build Toughness

Competition to Foster Cooperation

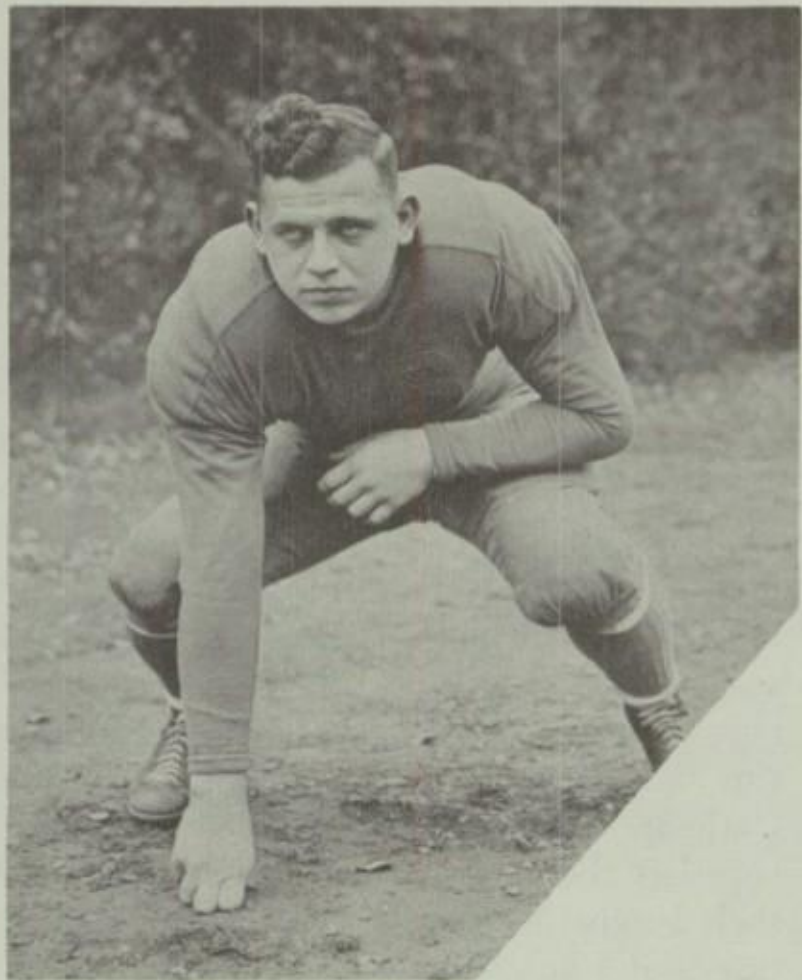

Exercise To Build Toughness

To stand the long hours of marching in tropical heat, or driving rain, to withstand the screaming of shells and the roar of motors, the human body must be at the peak of its form. For this men train, for this they exercise. And existence is dependent on physical fitness.

Competition To Foster Cooperation

The field of sport is miles from the field of battle but only a short distance from the field of life. Here boys learn to work as a team, to admire a hard fighting opponent. To beat a team, to win a game, to clinch a title, all these require the ability to work together as a unit, to cooperate. And this necessity of working with others to obtain a common goal is aimed at the heart of the future when we must, again and in a bigger sense, work together to insure the peace that is to come.

FOOTBALL

Taking advantage of the delayed opening of the schools, the Knights turned out for two practice sessions a day in the dust bowl during September. By the time the first game rolled around Coach Barnes had a powerful juggernaut with a line averaging a good 195 lbs. and a backfield equally formidable. Sheer power and letter-perfect blocking spelled out a 6-0 defeat for Lackawanna in the opener. Opening the throttle another notch on the following Saturday the Knights trampled Holy Family to the tune of 33-0. Panzer-like end sweeps and huge gaps in their forward wall paved the way for this one. Aquinas, perennial and ever dangerous rivals, were the next on the list. Fendinger, Mack and Dobmier stormed through them for a touchdown every quarter. The final gun left the scoreboard 26-0. Then Cathedral came to town to topple us. Their scorecards read Canisius 13, Cathedral 0, when they left the field that afternoon. Coming down the home stretch the Knights really had their hands full against East Aurora. That one-man team Bud Agnew almost turned the tide. But a last quarter tally and PAT gave us the nod 14-13. Congratulations to Captain Dick Crumlish and his Championship Eleven. They rolled up 92 points to their opponents 13. Hats off to one of the finest teams ever to sport the Blue and Gold spangles!

Canisius Wins, 14-13, Over East Aurora

Canisius Prep football team came from behind with a fourth quarter touchdown and conversio to defeat a surprisingly strong East Aurora High team, 14-13, before some 2,300 at The Villa yesterday afternoon. The victory gave th Canisians an undefeated and untied record for their six-gam schedule. The loss was East Aurora's first of the campaign.

Bob Dobmeier and Frank (Red) Mack scored for the home-breds. Dobmeier bucked his way through from the five early in the first period, and Mack plunged over from the six for the fourth quarter score that knotted the count. Dobmeier accounted for both extra points via the line buck route.

Bill Agnew, the outstanding back of the game, bagged both EA scores. He returned the kickoff, driving Canisius into the end zone. Agnew's broken hit pay dirt for the Canisius club. He scored the third. He had a point on his own half, but failed to score. He had two outbursts. Canisius lined up well under com. Still a menace all

East Aurora's main hope is its forward wall. Hard-working tackle, Newk Steuart, 189 pounds, and Bob Logel, 190, give size and stability to an otherwise light line. Bob Halliday, 158, Dave Kent, 196, and Tom Bean, 175, share the end duties although Kent has seen considerable action at tackle. Bob Stockwell, 170, and Alton Fox, 165, are a pair of aggressive guards. Warren Boorum, 162, a rangy junior holds down the center position.

A pair of triple-threat backs, Cor (Bud) Agnew, 175, and Jack Castle, 178, do the majority of the East Aurora ball-handling. Capt. Charley Dye, 170, and Quarterback Ke McManus, 175, take care of the heavy-duty assignments.

Barnes Club Clinches Game In First Half

Scoring all its points in a swift, furious first half attack, Canisius Prep yesterday subdued an out-weighted and outmanned Holy Family team of Auburn, 33-0, in an intercity grid clash before some 1,500 at The Villa.

Transportation difficulties kept seven of the HF regulars from arriving in time for the first half, and two of this group failed to make an appearance in time for the second half. In all, the squad numbered only 20, a sad comparison to the 78 uniformed Canisians ready for action.

The Prepsters corralled three touchdowns in the first quarter and three in the second to make a track meet out of the early action. Meanwhile, the invaders failed to present a scoring threat.

Jerry Whalen and Joe Mattimore each scored twice, with Dobmeier and Mack tallying once each for the Canisius cause. Dobmeier and Mack each contributed an extra point on running plays with Whalen placekicking another.

Whalen went over from the four for the first two scores in the opening quarter, and Dobmeier returned an intercepted pass 20 yards for the third marker in the frame. Whalen cracked through from the three in the second to score, and Mattimore went 25 yards off tackle for his first score, and 24 for his second to round out the touchdown parade.

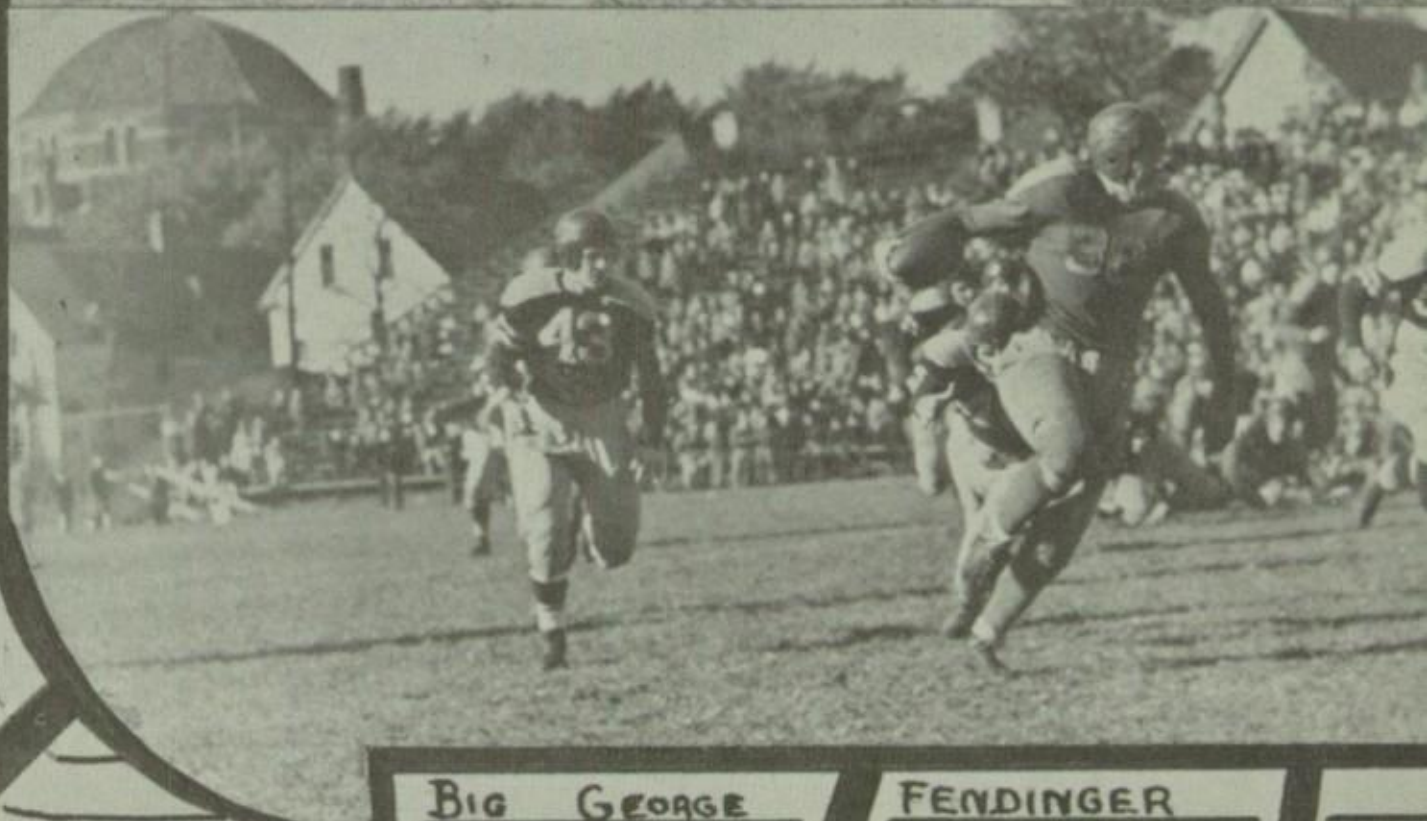

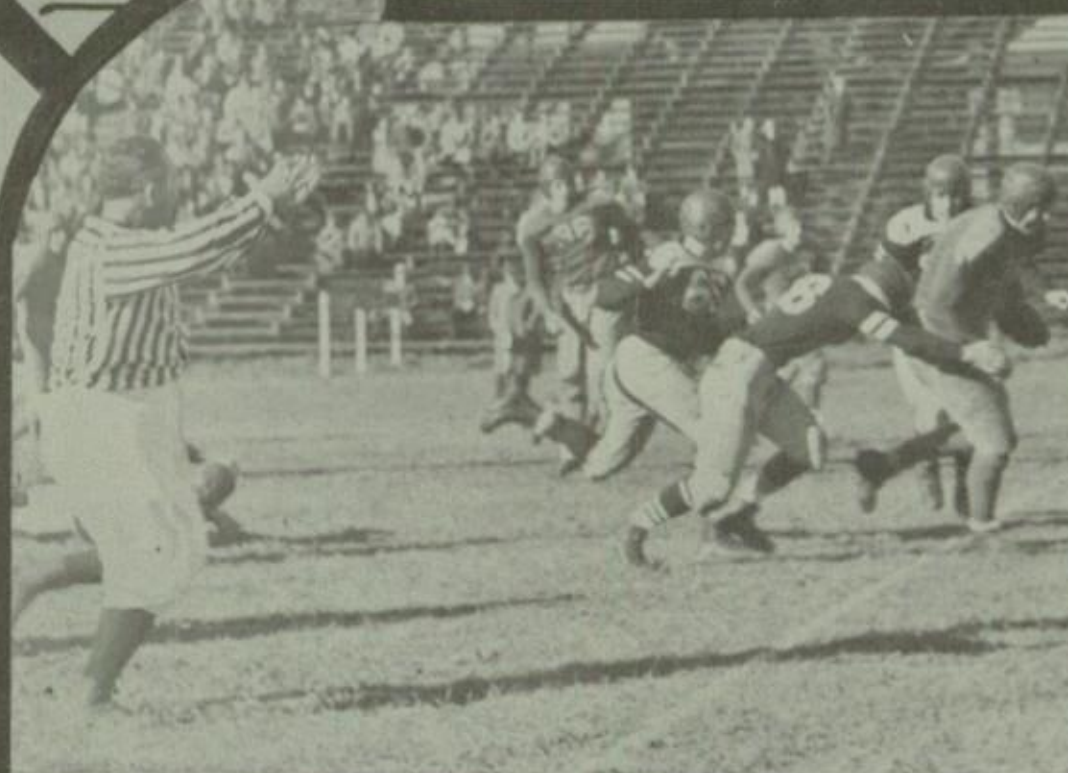

Second Half Even

Strengthened by the arrival of five of its first stringers, the Auburn club battled the homebreds on even terms in the second half, and in the fourth period menaced the Canisius goal line for the first time, advancing to the eight before the Johnny Barnes crew took the ball on downs.

MINIM FOOTBALL

Forty Varsity men of tomorrow turned out last fall when Fr. Burns and Fr. McGrail began their Freshman Football season. The long afternoon sessions at Delaware Park and those hard played games every Saturday morning started many a hard driving back and well blocking lineman on his road to the wearing of the coveted Varsity jersey. Our football supremacy will rest safe in their hands.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The varsity squad will not suffer from lack of material next year if the Jayvee record of ten wins and two losses is any indication of the calibre of the coming varsity basketeers. St. Joe's J.V., Nichols' J.V., St. Benedict's C.Y.O. and the South Buffalo A.C. can all testify to the ability of next year's stars.

MINIMS

Here is a squad averaging a little over five foot per man that made up in skill what it lacked in size. Their record of eight wins and one loss proves the old adage that, "good things come in small packages." A number of these small packages will be sporting varsity jerseys in years to come.

ACRIONS

Equaling their smaller teammates in ability and surpassing them in size, the Acrions stormed through a very successful season of nine wins and two losses. Practice and experience will give them the assurance needed for varsity ball. Coach Barnes need have no worries for the future of Canisius basketball.

HOCKEY

After an absence of a year, Canisius again had its Hockey Team in the Frontier Amateur Hockey League. Under the able coaching of Fathers Byrne and Reagen the squad started practice at Memorial Auditorium early in December and opened up on the twentieth by dropping a close one to a strong Lorenzo team. Gaining strength with each successive game, the sextet rounded out the season late in February with a record of 2 wins and 4 losses. This is rather good considering the team's previous inactive status and the stiff, experienced competition. Next year with few losses in the lineup and a season of tough experience behind them the team should become a power in the league.

CANISIUS CAPTURES WNY LEAGUE TITLE

Scoring five runs in the opening inning, Canisius High School Monday defeated St. Joseph's College, 11 to 4, to win the Western New York Catholic High School Baseball League crown. Charley Diebold gave the opening attack impetus with a double which drove in two runs.

BASEBALL

With the advent of Spring the customary host of promising candidates reported to Coach Barnes for baseball practice. The varsity this year will be well fortified in every department. Behind the plate we find fiery Johnny Moskal, a member of the Eastern All-American team last year. On the mound are Tommy Flynn a fast righthander and Dick Diebold, a big southpaw, both of whom are capable of stopping even the biggest bats. Around the infield we see big Jerry State guarding the hot corner, Jimmy Laux at the shortstop post, dependable Pug Paganello at second and lanky Bob Schmitt holding down the initial sack. In the outfield along with Capt. Joe Mattimore and Ken Fellner are sophomores Leo Lynett and Dan Golombek, comprising a fast, hard-hitting quartet of gardeners.

Flash: The above combination has just swept through an undefeated season and captured the Western New York Catholic High Championship.

Potential Forces for Peace

Raw Material For War

War is a playing field where existence depends on preparation and toughness. These young men will learn the stern lesson of never ending vigilance or extinction and the necessities of self preservation will soon wipe the carefree grins from their faces and take a great deal of the spring from their walk.

Potential Forces For Peace

Life can be just as tough to face as war. Its living too depends on the learning of lessons. As they go through school here they must begin to find the principles and ideals that will shape their lives, they must discover that living with others, and getting along with them is the stuff that life is made up of. War may demand much but the learning to live life well and peacefully demands even more understanding and human sympathy. The lessons of life learned early and well can forever forestall the necessity for repairing mistakes by war.

Prepared To Serve in War

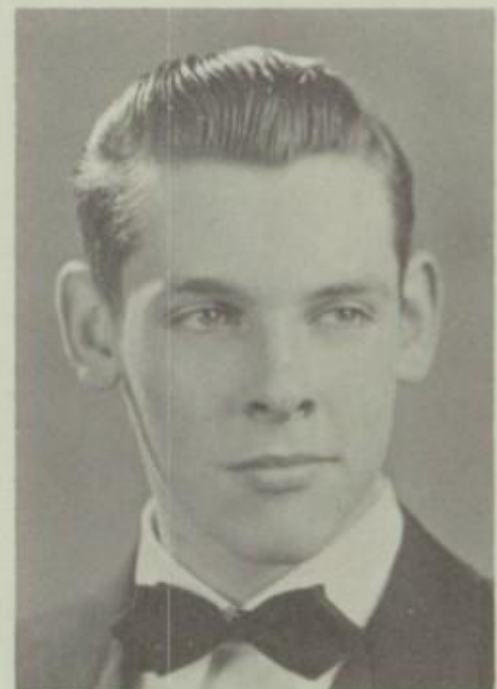

Long months of tough training are behind these pilots as they step up to accept their wings. Yet even as they receive them they realize they are raw recruits in the game of war. Hours of combat flying stand between them and experience. Diagram knowledge they have in plenty but actual battle hours are still ahead.

Eager To Build A Peace

The diplomas are presented and life's four year prep school is terminated. Now the graduate must step forth into a world whose lasting peace will depend on his living of the life he has been taught is the best one. Peace for each of them means nothing else but their training transmuted into living.

The Seniors express their Gratitude:—

To Rev. Father Reed for his interest and encouragement.

To our moderator, Father Scott for his long hours of patient work with us.

To Mr. William Watson for his assistance in preparing and printing this book.

To the following companies for permission to use pictures:

- 1) The Buffalo Evening News for the picture of Dick Crumlish on pg. 31.
- 2) The Associated Press for the two pictures on the first of the colored pages.
- 3) Twentieth Century Fox for the pictures from their film, "Winged Victory" which appear on the colored pages introducing the Faculty, Sports, Undergrad and Senior Sections.
- 4) Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the picture from their film, "Thirty Seconds over Tokyo" which appears on the colored pages introducing the Activities section.

To Mr. Erhardt for his patience and splendid photography

To the advertisers who have patronized "The Arena." We urge you to patronize them.

To the staff, photographers and artists who put so much of their time into the production of this book.

Accent On Youth

Ullman is "tops" in creating furs for Young America. Buoyant, light-hearted furs, adapted to the needs of a full, active life. Furs typical of the studied simplicity and casual charm that characterizes the Youth of today. And, of course, each and every origination bears the proud Ullman label which stands for perfection in quality and workmanship, moderation in price!
